2:00PM  Session I: The Symbolism of Remembering How countries remember their war dead, both uniformed and civilian, is a sensitive issue. Differing national narratives surrounding the symbolism of remembering continues to create bilateral and regional friction. Are Arlington and Yasukuni really any different? If so, how and why?

3:15PM  Coffee break

3:45PM  Session II: Shifting the Asia-Pacific geopolitical narrative Geography doesn’t change but geopolities do! The 21st Century Japan-US relationship proves it. What is necessary to shift the current Asia-Pacific geopolitical narrative away from conflict and competition towards peace and cooperation? What are the barriers to doing so? What are the risks of not?

5:00PM  Session close
